

We've given you men and big boys bargains enough; now for the small boy.

Dress-up suits marked down half—without vest $4.75, with vest $5.75.

Strong fine suits; some of 'em were once $16; but they aren't worth it now.

Do you remember that good five-dollar dress-suit-case of ours? We have a better—$5 too.

Hanlder, stronger, bigger (if you want it)—22, 24, 26-inch. We'd just as lief beat ourselves as to beat t'other fellow.

Your money back if you want it.

PURSUING ACTOR MANTELL.

He's in Danger of Arrest in Brooklyn for Not Paying Attorneys.

Acting for Robert B. Mantell, the actor, Lawyer Mooney asked Judge Andrews in the Supreme Court yesterday to open the default taken against Mantell on Feb. 16, 1894, and to allow him to pay $25 a week alimony on account of the $100 a week that was awarded to Caroline Mantell when she got a divorce from him several years ago.

Mantell is now playing in Brooklyn, and it is the first time he has been within the jurisdiction of the Courts since the decree was entered. Lawyer DeMott got an order, as soon as he heard Mantell was to play in Brooklyn, to make the Sheriff and county attorney over to him all the papers in the suit, so he could have the Sheriff of Kings county arrest Mantell. At the same time Lawyer Mooney got an order staying all the proceedings until the case could be heard in Chambers.

In support of his motion yesterday Lawyer Mooney said that it was impossible for Mantell to pay the full alimony, as he was not making $100 a week, and he desired to purge himself of the contempt and pay $25 a week until such time as he could pay more. It was alleged that Mantell was supporting his wife, playing with a company out west and making a good salary, and is in no need of money.

Lawyer DeMott, for Mrs. Mantell, said that his client had a large family, and a small company in order to support her two children, and that she could not live on $25 a week. She had contracted debts because of her husband's failure to support her, and had to pay a bill of $450 for the schooling of the two children. The back alimony amounts to $4,500. She had agreed to pay $25 a week, in order to stave off the foreclosure of the mortgage on her house, but Mantell had refused to pay it.

Mantell's lawyer also responded in the divorce suit. Charles B. Easton, who is with the Mantell company, and that she and Mantell lived together all last summer in Connecticut, said that Mantell had no money. He said a man like Mantell had no right to come into a court and ask for relief. Judge Andrews reserved decision.

RAID ON MOONSHINERS.

A. AUGUSTUS HEALY Conducts One in Person, and Arrests Two Men in Brooklyn.

Acting Revenue Collector A. Augustus Healy of Brooklyn distinguished himself yesterday by personally conducting a raid upon an illicit distillery, and assisting in the capture of two moonshiners. The still was located in an old unoccupied tin factory at 443 Driggs avenue, and is supposed to have been in operation about a month.

Three doors had to be forced in a hurry by Mr. Healy and his posse, including Special Agent Brooks and Deputy Collectors Orenfeld and Hawley, before the raiders found the den of the moonshiners. The raid was still in blast. Two men were busily at work when the officers entered and made them prisoners. They said that they were hard up, and had been employed by a German named Lynch.

The plant was capable of turning out about 200 gallons of whiskey a day, and is one of the most important in the city. It has been seized in the Brooklyn district for a long time. In addition to the plant there were 3,000 gallons of moonshine barrels at a half of rum, and half a barrel of pure alcohol. The prisoners were held for examination.
